

APPENDIX 3: Resources for Parents and Families³³

Preventing expulsion and suspension will require a strong partnership with families. Programs should treat families as the foremost experts on their children and as such, exchange information relevant to the child's culture, social-emotional and behavioral strengths and concerns, approaches to learning, and strategies that work at home. At a minimum, programs should ensure families have information on:

- Their child's health, behavior and development, especially social-emotional development, during the hours they are in their early learning setting;
- Developmental milestones, healthy development and behavior, and places to go for help;
- Identifying a high-quality early learning program; and
- Communicating with program or school personnel and advocating for their child.

Below are resources to share with families to facilitate this partnership and information sharing:
