Keyed to the 10 NAEYC Early Childhood Program Standards

Following is the Volume 65 Annual Index to Young Children articles, columns, and features. An occasional article is included or expanded online and archived at www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues.

The Annual Index begins with a listing of regularly appearing columns and occasional features. Next come articles indexed by subject matter as they support and relate to the Accreditation Criteria topic areas within the 10 NAEYC Early Childhood Program Standards. Finally, other important early childhood education focus areas not directly related to the program standards are grouped by topic. An author listing concludes the Annual Index.

For an online search of authors and a broader subject search of abstracts of Young Children articles since 1985, volume 40, and of other articles published online since September 2002, visit www.naeyc.org/yc/search.
By Column or Feature

Regularly appearing columns and features in Young Children are listed below by name, issue date, and page numbers. Those in blue are also available as downloadable PDFs online at www.naeyc.org/yc/columns.

Advocates in Action (SEPT) 72; (NOV) 78

Face-to-Face, English and Spanish: (SEPT) 70–71, 111–112

From Our President, English and Spanish: (JAN) 6–7; (MAR) 6–7; (MAY) 6–7, 94; (JULY) 6, 100; (SEPT) 6–7, 105; (NOV) 6–7, 112

In Memoriam: Docia Zavitkovsky (MAR) 57–58; Mary S. Lewis (MAR) 59

Learning by Leaps and Bounds: (MAR) 52–53; (JULY) 48, 50; (NOV) 72–73

NAEYC Accreditation: (JAN) 54–56; (MAR) 78–80; (MAY) 64–66; (SEPT) 74–77; (NOV) 82–85

www.naeyc.org/academy/primary/ycarticles

NAEYC Affiliate Successes: (JAN) 49–51; (MAY) 68–69; (SEPT) 66–68

New Books: (JAN) 112; (MAR) online only; (MAY) 96; (JULY) 98–99; (SEPT) 110–111

Observations and Reflections, English and Spanish: (JAN) 72–73, 110; (MAR) 68–69

On Our Minds: (JAN) 44–46; (MAY) 57–59; (SEPT) 62–64

Our Proud Heritage: (MAR) 54–56; (JULY) 60–62; (NOV) 74–76

The Reading Chair: (JAN) 40–41; (MAR) 50–51; (MAY) 52–53; (JULY) 46–47; (SEPT) 58–59; (NOV) 70–71

Research in Review: social justice (JAN) 82–90; vocabulary gap (JULY) 84–91

Resources for: the performing arts (MAR) 13, 47–48; men in children’s lives (MAY) 11, 51; lessons learned around the globe (NOV) 68–69

Rocking and Rolling—Supporting Infants, Toddlers, and Their Families: (JAN) 42–43; (MAY) 54–55; (SEPT) 60–61

Viewpoint: rising standards/declining staff qualifications (MAR) 62–66

Voices of Practitioners (online only): teacher research articles—“Exploring the Forest: Wild Places in Childhood” and “Supporting Struggling Readers: Using Interactive Read-Alouds and Graphic Organizers”; teacher educator articles—“Shaping New Models for Early Childhood Teacher Education” www.naeyc.org/publications/vop
By NAEYC Early Childhood Program Standard

This section of the Index is formatted to help readers identify articles in Young Children as resources related to the 10 NAEYC Early Childhood Program Standards, which define quality for child care, preschool, and kindergarten programs. (Articles focusing on primary classrooms or other topics, such as professional development or research, appear at the end of this section.) To learn more about the standards, visit www.naeyc.org/academy/primary/standardsintro.

There are several ways to locate copies of Young Children articles you are interested in.

NAEYC members can choose to receive print copies of Young Children (YC) issues 6 times a year. All members have access online to the interactive digital version of Young Children (available since March 2008), and may download articles from the digital issues for educational purposes. To access the digital YC:

www.naeyc.org/memberlogin

Everyone can

• use the NAEYC search tool to locate abstracts of Young Children articles at www.naeyc.org yc/search • download articles that are identified in the Annual Index as available online by clicking on the live links provided. For example, men in teacher preparation (MAY) 36–40 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/may

• view a list of online accessible articles in each issue of YC Volume 65 at www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues
• purchase a photocopy of any article by mailing a check for $5.00 with the article title/date to NAEYC, Attention: YC Reprints, or by providing title/date and credit card information in an e-mail request (use YC Reprints in the subject line) to editorial@naeyc.org
• order a 2010 past issue of Young Children (Jan/#046, Mar/#047, May/#048, July/#049, Sept/#050, Nov/#051) at the NAEYC Online Store www.naeyc.org/store (click on “Journals” category)

1. Relationships

Addressing challenging behaviors coaching partnerships help teachers gain skills/knowledge in approaching classroom challenges (JULY) 70–75 problem solving with young children using persona dolls (NOV) 106–08 through reinforcement of values and social justice in early childhood classrooms (JAN) 82–90 sign language learning in the classroom increases the inclusion of children with disabilities and helps as a guidance tool (JULY) 92–97

<see Burt, Gelnaw, and Lesser> supporting families in positive transitions to child care (SEPT) 60–61 www.naeyc.org/yc/ columns/rocking

Between teachers and children end-of-the-program transitions, infants’ and toddlers’ good-byes (MAY) 54–55 www.naeyc.org/yc/ columns/rocking help ease the transition to child care (SEPT) 60–61 www.naeyc.org/yc/ columns/rocking male teachers in the classroom: how they work and relate to the children (MAY) 12–16 through sharing spoken language: sounds, conversations, told stories (JAN) 34–39 by supporting each child’s spirit, respect for self and others, and an appreciation of the unknown (MAR) 90–95 Creating harmonious classrooms use music to introduce infants and toddlers to cooperative efforts (MAR) 14–19 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/march

Helping children make friends children and older adults find shared meaning through intergenerational relationships at child care centers (MAY) 88–94 children’s caring for classroom pets encourages friendships and working together (MAY) 70–77 and develop social skills through play and learning together (JAN) 104–10 visual cues in inclusive play groups opens doors of communication between children with autism spectrum disorders and their classmates (MAY) 78–83 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/may

Promoting self-regulation children’s caring for classroom pets supports problem solving and emotional development (MAY) 70–77 meditation as a practice learned from an urban preschool in Bangalore, India (NOV) 48–52, 54–55

2. Curriculum (content or focus areas in blue)

Cognitive
arts/creative expression and appreciation to foster critical thinking and children’s ability to use logic and reasoning (SEPT) 26–31 steps for becoming familiar with early music standards (MAR) 42–47 visual art with young children, using games (JAN) 18–22 young audiences taking imaginative journeys through theater, live music, and dance (MAR) 36–41

eyearly literacy

eyearly mathematics learning center extensions help children stay engaged (SEPT) 94–98 STEM comes to preschool, four disciplines of science, technology, engineering, and math interconnect (SEPT) 12–14, 16–18

health and safety safe havens for babies in floor time, lap time, and touch time (SEPT) 40–47 teaching safety education to young children can be key to fire-safe homes (MAY) 84–87 science environmental education, a natural way to nurture children’s development and learning (NOV) 98–104 learning center extensions continue children’s explorations and engagement (SEPT) 94–98 learning outdoors and bringing nature into the classroom, partnering with nature centers and environmental groups (JULY) 76–82 outdoor recess experiences with a prop box address science standards while children enjoy the play (JAN) 30–33 ramps and pathways—fun and intellectually rigorous learning (JAN) 12–17 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/january <see Zan & Geiken> routines for thinking and talking about thinking to let children see their own processes (SEPT) 26–31 STEM comes to preschool, four disciplines of science, technology, engineering, and math interconnect (SEPT) 12–14, 16–18

social studies kindergartners explore spirituality (JULY) 12–17 thinking routines and talking about thinking to let children see their own processes and reflect on their ideas (SEPT) 26–31 technology Developmental language

enhancing pattern language development in children who think and process information through digital technology (SEPT) 20–25 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/september <see An & Seplocha> language games and talk with babies during routines to enhance learning (SEPT) 40–47 music encourages spoken language and phonemic awareness (MAR) 14–19 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/march photo-narration as a language experience approach to listening and learning (SEPT) 32–36, 38 poetry experiences promote young children’s language awareness on phonological, syntactic, semantic, and pragmatic levels (SEPT) 48–50, 52–55 research-based vocabulary teaching practices can bridge children’s vocabulary gaps (JULY) 84–91 sign language early learning aids children’s understanding of words and of language as a grammatical system (JULY) 92–97 through sounds, shared conversations, told stories, and songs infants and toddlers imitate and respond (JAN) 34–39 supporting young English learners’ development of interlanguage as a transitory grammar (JULY) 18–23 teacher talk and its elements in promoting children’s thinking (JAN) 74–78, 80–81 visual cues open doors to play between children with autism spectrum disorders and their classmates (MAY) 78–83 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/may physical activities for babies, brain games essential to neural stimulation (JULY) 48, 50 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/leapsandbounds movement and language forming similar sequences, flow, and phrasing (NOV) 72–74 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/leapsandbounds movement in routines and transitions, including yoga (SEPT) 88–93 music activities for fine and gross motor control, balance and coordination with infants and toddlers (MAR) 14–19 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/march physical exercise and learning about the environment through nature field trips and preschools, plus active involvement of teachers and families (JULY) 76–82 transitions turn into teachable times of creative active movement (MAR) 52–53 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/leapsandbounds social-emotional caring for classroom pets supports engagement and emotional development (MAY) 70–77 creating welcoming inclusive environments for lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender families in early childhood settings (JAN) 97–102 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/january <see Burt, Gelnaw, & Lesser> end-of-the-program transitions, infants’ and toddlers’ good-byes (MAY) 54–55 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/rocking environmental education, a natural way to nurture children’s development and learning (NOV) 98–104 kindergartners making sense of the world and understanding differences (JULY) 12–17 music with infants and toddlers leads to confidence, cultural awareness, and cooperation (MAR) 14–19 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/march positive verbal environments for young children’s social development (SEPT) 81–86 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/september <see Meece & Soderman> problem solving to support children’s social-emotional development (NOV) 106–08 promoting prosocial behavior in infants and toddlers by giving supportive alternatives (JAN) 42–43 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/rocking through reinforcement of values and social justice in early childhood classrooms (JAN) 82–90 spiritual education to encourage belonging, respect for self and others, and awareness/appreciation of the unknown (MAR) 90–95 strategies for supporting transnational families and children through awareness and sensitivity (JULY) 30–37 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/july supporting babies’ transitions to child care (SEPT) 60–61 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/rocking of joyful learning and assessment in kindergarten: continuous, comprehensive, and integrative processes (MAY) 57–59 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/minds the power of creative dance: accessible to all children, curriculum enrichment, an antidote to obesity, and mind-body connection and creativity (MAR) 30–35 story drama links infants’ sensory exploration of materials to prekindergartners’ pretend play (MAR) 20–28

3. Teaching

Creating caring communities equity and social justice in early childhood classrooms (JAN) 82–90 helping children play and learn together to build social skills that reinforce school readiness (JAN) 104–10 helps babies learn feelings of being loved and cherished (SEPT) 40–47 joyful learning and assessment in kindergarten (MAY) 57–59 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/minds problem solving with persona dolls, supports children’s social-emotional development (NOV) 106–08 reaching transnational families, and using technology and community resources to help them stay connected (JULY) 30–37 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/july <see Cho, Chen, & Shin> through spiritual education grounded in learning arising naturally in children’s daily play (MAR) 90–95 verbal environments in which young children feel valued (SEPT) 81–86 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/september <see Meece & Soderman>

In enriched learning environments with children’s books, reviews of (see The Reading Chair in “By Column or Feature”) environmental education, a natural way to nurture children’s development and learning (NOV) 98–104 by partnering with environmental organizations to create nature field trips and preschools, plus workshops for teachers and families (JULY) 76–82 rhymes and poems as natural starting points for children’s learning to understand spoken, written, and visual languages (SEPT) 48–50, 52–55 using story drama with young preschoolers (MAR) 20–28 writing workshop in kindergarten (JAN) 24–28

Making learning meaningful through children’s books, to know lots of things (JULY) 46–47 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/readingchair conversations about photos (family, culture, traditions) strengthen children’s voices (SEPT) 32–36, 38 for infants and toddlers, using music for cognitive and developmental learning (MAR) 14–19 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/march integrating World Wide Web technology as a tool for developing pattern languages in children (SEPT) 20–25 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/september <see An & Seplocha> for kindergartners, how to engage in authentic discussions about beliefs and understanding differences (JULY) 12–17 the power of teacher talk and questions to stir children’s imaginative thinking (JAN) 74–78, 80–81 through shared spoken language (sounds, conversations, told stories, songs), infants and toddlers imitate and respond (JAN) 34–39

STEM comes to preschool, through integrated learning in four disciplines; science, technology, engineering, and math (SEPT) 12–14, 16–18 through verbal environments that state expectations, give children choices, and let children learn from their actions (SEPT) 81–86 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/september <see Meece & Soderman> visual literacy, using games to explore art (JAN) 18–22

Responding to children’s interests and needs books to explore worlds of information and wonderment www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/readingchair <see JAN, MAR, MAY, JULY, SEPT, NOV> creative dance—accessible for all children, creative enrichment, antidote to obesity, a physical outlet and mind-body connection (MAR) 30–35 exploration and engagement, learning center extensions to further the continuation of (SEPT) 94–98 movement for infant development, encouragement of (JULY) 48, 50 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/leapsandbounds pattern language development, using the World Wide Web as a tool for (SEPT) 20–25 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/september <see An & Seplocha> play between children with autism spectrum disorders and To build children's skills and knowledge and deepen their understanding about differences in beliefs and accepting and respecting diversity (JULY) 12–17 observation of babies' ways guides teachers' next steps in a child's learning experience (SEPT) 40–47 poetry experiences promote young children's language awareness on phonological, syntactic, semantic, and pragmatic levels (SEPT) 48–50, 52–55 sign language early learning helps better children's understanding of the symbolic nature of words (JULY) 92–97 six big ideas for teaching early childhood physical science (JAN) 12–17 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/january <see Zan & Geiken> steps for becoming familiar with early music standards (MAR) 42–48 thinking routines to lead children through steps of critical thinking (SEPT) 26–31 young audiences take imaginative journeys through theater, live music, and dance (MAR) 36–41

4. Assessment of Child Progress

Adapting curriculum, individualizing teaching, and informing program development
(No articles in Volume 65.)

Appropriate methods
joyful learning and assessment in kindergarten (MAY) 57–59 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/minds

Communicating with and involving families to raise concerns about developmental delays in infants and toddlers and provide information from observations (JAN) 44–46 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/minds

Creating a plan for
(No articles in Volume 65.)

Identifying children's interests, needs, and progress learning center extensions to continue children's need to explore and be engaged (SEPT) 94–98

5. Health

Ensuring nutritional well-being
(No articles in Volume 65.)

Maintaining healthful environments
(No articles in Volume 65.)

Promoting/protecting children's health
(No articles in Volume 65.)

6. Teachers

Dispositions and professional commitment encouraging and supporting male teachers in the classroom: positive role models for children (MAY) 12–16 a Head Start/college partnership to help working teachers earn degrees and maintain cultural and linguistic diversity (JULY) 24–29 men in early childhood education, what they say about their mentors, interest in teaching children, satisfactions, career challenges, and the future (MAY) 41–45 shortage of male teachers in early childhood classrooms, realities/recommendations (MAY) 18–23 Preparation, knowledge, and skills professional reading (see New Books in “By Column or Feature”) strategies to recruit and retain men in teacher preparation programs (MAY) 36–40

7. Families
Knowing and understanding different cultural expectations, and respecting all families’ backgrounds (MAR) 82–88 families’ need for support in babies’ transitions to child care (SEPT) 60–61 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/rocking families’ need to engage in the end-of-the-program good-byes of their infants and toddlers (MAY) 54–55 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/rocking lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender families, and welcoming them in early childhood settings (JAN) 97–102 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/january <see Burt, Gelnaw, & Lesser> transnational families, using technology and community resources to reach them and help them stay connected (JULY) 30–37 www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/july <see Cho, Chen, & Shin>

Nurturing as advocates for their children empowerment, unity, and cooperation fosters child development in rural Paraguay, lessons learned (NOV) 32–37 father-infant bonding/attachment, increasing importance and ways to bolster its support (MAY) 24–28 integration of early childhood education in a health program, El Salvador’s example (NOV) 42–47 involvement of families in and their invited contribution to classroom life (MAR) 82–88 Sharing information with on child development and the impact of quality early childhood education, partnering with three local McDonald’s (JAN) 49–51 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/affiliate pregnant single mothers through an urban center-based support group (JULY) 38–42, 44 to raise concerns about developmental delays in infants and toddlers, share observations, and identify local resources (JAN) 44–46 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/minds on teaching safety education to young children, key to ensuring fire-safe homes (MAY) 84–87

8. Community relationships Accessing its resources in creating an urban center-based pregnant single mothers’ support group (JULY) 38–42, 44 to help working teachers earn degrees through a Head Start/community college partnership (JULY) 24–29 to reach families with information on child development (JAN) 49–51 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/affiliate to take young audiences on imaginative journeys through live music, theater, and dance performances (MAR) 36–41 Citizenship and involvement advocacy of state legislators to support gender diversity in the early childhood workforce (MAY) 30–34 boot camps for new dads, community response to the importance of father-infant bonding/attachment (MAY) 24–28 bringing children and older age adults together to learn about and bond with one another in helping/caring roles and interactions (MAY) 88–94

Linking with environmental organizations to create nature field trips, preschools, and workshops for teachers and families (JULY) 76–82 through home and community visits, authentic dialogue, and communication of school needs to build shared decisions (MAR) 82–88 partnership with a local fire department to teach safety education to young children can be key to fire-safe homes (MAY) 84–87

9. Physical Environments Building design and maintenance
(No articles in Volume 65.)
Environmental health
(No articles in Volume 65.)
Equipment, materials, and furnishings
(No articles in Volume 65.)
Outdoor environment design
(No articles in Volume 65.)

10. Leadership and Management Fiscal accountability
(No articles in Volume 65.)
Health, nutrition, and safety
(No articles in Volume 65.)
Leadership
advocacy of state legislators to support gender diversity in the early childhood workforce: process, change, and recommendations (MAY) 30–34 early childhood program representatives and community college faculty put working teachers on a career pathway to earn degrees (JULY) 24–29 intergenerational relationships at child care centers, where children and older adults find shared meaning Management policies and procedures strategies to recruit and retain men in teacher preparation programs (MAY) 36–40

Personnel policies
shortage of male teachers in early childhood classrooms, realities/recommendations (MAY) 18–23

Program evaluation/accountability/improvement coaching partnerships to help teachers reflect on their practices, build confidence, and believe in children’s abilities (JULY) 70–75 men in early childhood education, what they say about mentors, interest in teaching children, satisfactions, career challenges, and the future (MAY) 41–45

NAEYC’s code of ethics and educators’ responsibilities to children, families, and communities (MAR) 72–77  www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/march  <See Feeney> optimism—even in a recession (SEPT) 6–7, 105

By Other Topics

Accreditation
blueprint for a more efficient NAEYC program accreditation system (MAY) 64–66 celebrating 25 years of NAEYC Accreditation (NOV) 82–85 lessons from NAEYC Accreditation in avoiding lapses in children’s supervision (MAR) 78–80 pursuit of NAEYC Accreditation (SEPT) 74–77  www.naeyc.org/academy/primary/ycarticles quality improvement support efforts, state and local (JAN) 54–56

Advocacy
an Affiliate goes green and serves members better (MAY) 68–69  www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/affiliate a federal vision for early care and education (MAR) 6–7 for Head Start Program Performance Standards and state-based QRISs (SEPT) 72 the impact of Early Childhood Advisory Councils (NOV) 6–7, 112 readying for the 112th Congress and what to expect (NOV) 78

Children’s literature, writing, and reading comprehension children’s book author Patricia Polacco tackles issues of illness, racism, same-sex parents—serious topics that concern children (SEPT) 106–09 iterative read-alouds and graphic organizers support third-graders struggling as readers (Voices of Practitioners, 2010)  www.naeyc.org/publications/vop/articles <see Barrett-Mynes>

Developmentally appropriate practice
six big ideas for teaching early childhood physical science (JAN) 12–17  www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/january  <see Zan & Geiken>

Early childhood education field growth over the last 40 years, possibilities of new dreams (JULY) 6, 100 learning from the past, management and practices (JULY) 60–62 timeless learning tools (blocks) for yesterday, today, and tomorrow (MAR) 54–56  www.org/yc/columns/ourproudheritage

Early learning standards
Head Start Program Performance Standards (SEPT) 72

International
Asian Interest Forum aid to young children in Taiwan typhoon disaster (SEPT) 62–64  www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/minds community learning circles promote positive development of early primary children in Bangladesh (NOV) 12–19  www.naeyc.org/yc/pastissues/2010/november  <see Hyson, Hossain, & Chowdhury>

Denmark’s bøernehavens encourage children’s inquisitiveness and independence through the outdoors (NOV) 38–40 ending global poverty, resources for children and teachers (JULY) 64–69 fostering child development: Lessons learned from rural Paraguay (NOV) 32–37 the global goal for a gender-diverse workforce in early care and education, update and highlights (MAY) 46–51 grassroots models of early childhood education: Tanzania, Guatemala, and Thailand (NOV) 20–26 holding hands through paper dolls connects children around the world (NOV) 64–67 integrating early childhood education in a health program, El Salvador’s example (NOV) 42–47 lessons from our counterparts around the world (JAN) 6–7 a play-oriented approach encouraging children as storytellers builds literacy skills early in India (NOV) 62–63 practices in an urban preschool in Bangalore, India, help children learn self-regulation (NOV) 48–52, 54–55 professional development to serve young children in Chinese welfare institutions (NOV) 28–31

Step by Step teacher training in Azerbaijan ensures equal access for children with disabilities (NOV) 56–61 visits to Froebel sites in Germany inspire students in early childhood education (NOV) 74–76 www.naeyc.org yc/columns/ourproudheritage

Nature as a learning environment

Denmark’s equivalent of preschools encourages going outdoors to develop children’s inquisitiveness and independence (NOV) 38–40 exploring the forest with 4- and 5-year-olds—wild places in childhood (Voices of Practitioners/2010) www.naeyc.org/publications/vop/articles <see Rust> learning from Denmark’s børne-havens about the value of encouraging children’s independence (NOV) 38–40 my NAEC—inspiration, involvement, and leadership (SEPT) 70–71, 111–12 new books, reviews of (JAN) 112; (MAR) online only; (MAY) 96; (JULY) 98–99 (SEPT) 110–11; www.naeyc.org yc/columns/newbooks

Primary classrooms

community learning circles promote positive development of early primary children in Bangladesh (NOV) 12–19 www.naeyc.org yc/pastissues/2010/november <see Hyson, Hossain, & Chowdhury> helping struggling third-grader readers improve comprehension skills (Voices of Practitioners/2010) www.naeyc.org/publications/vop/articles <see Barrett-Mynes> strategies for creating meaningful math experiences for diverse primary age children (NOV) 92–96

Professional development, responsibility, career/growth, and personal leadership an Affiliate’s investment in its members (SEPT) 66–68 www.naeyc.org/yc/columns/affiliate

Asian Interest Forum leaders aid early childhood educators in Taiwan typhoon disaster (SEPT) 62–64 www.naeyc.org yc/columns/minds benefits of developing a professional portfolio (JAN) 92–96 www.naeyc.org yc/pastissues/2010/january <see Priest> inspiration to teach, reflections on Friedrich Froebel (NOV) 74–76 www.naeyc.org yc/columns/ourproudheritage leadership development profile, Dorothy W. Hewes (JULY) 60–62 www.naeyc.org yc/columns/ourproudheritage on classroom practices of reinforcing social messages of equality and justice (JAN) 82–90 teacher educator research on shaping new models for early childhood teacher education (Voices of Practitioners/2010) www.naeyc.org/publications/vop/teachereducatorarticles <see Rust> teacher research observations confirming the value of wild places to let preschoolers’ explore, investigate, and daydream in childhood (Voices of Practitioners/2010) www.naeyc.org/publications/vop/articles <see Golden> teacher research on helping struggling third-grader readers improve comprehension skills (Voices of Practitioners/2010) www.naeyc.org/publications/vop/articles <see Barrett-Mynes> what research tells us about early childhood vocabulary instruction and ways to bridge the vocabulary gap (JULY) 84–91

Research