

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Section 1—Introduction to the NAEYC Early Childhood Program Standards

Section 2—What Do You Need to Know about the Relationships Standard?

- Why Are Relationships Important to Quality?
- What Is the Standard for Relationships?
- What Are the NAEYC Accreditation Criteria for the Relationships Standard?
- What Are the Connections between the Relationships Standard and the Other Standards?

Section 3—What Does This Standard Mean for Your Program?

- What Will Help You Create Shared Understandings about Positive Relationships?
- How Are Children of Different Ages Supported as They Work to Develop Positive Relationships?
- How Is Sensitivity to Diversity in Culture and Language Important in the Development of Positive Relationships?
- How Do Relationships Vary When Children Have Special Needs?
- What Topic Areas or Criteria in the Relationships Standard Are Important to Discuss?
- Are You Open to Changing How You Develop and Maintain Positive Relationships?

Section 4—What Do You Need to Do for Self-Study?

- Create Shared Understandings
- Gather Evidence
- Determine Strengths and Weaknesses
- Develop Program Improvement Plans
- Make Improvements and Document Your Efforts
- Evaluate Results and Plan Next Steps

Section 5—Resources

- Observation Tools for Relationships
- Selected Publications and Web Sites
- Literature Review
- Bibliography